Andy Stuart

Sport has been a cornerstone of my life, first as an athlete and later as a parent watching my three children develop their own passion for sports. Through these experiences, I have gained a deep appreciation for the life skills, personal growth, and sense of belonging that participation in sport provides to young athletes.

For more than two decades, I have served in leadership roles within local government and the not-for-profit sector, contributing to the governance and strategic direction of community organizations. I served on the Saanich Lacrosse Association for six years and was the President for two terms. In 2025 I was the Chair of the Vancouver Island Minor Lacrosse Commission. I get great satisfaction supporting organizations that deliver sports in our community.

I hold a Master of Public Administration from the University of Victoria and have taught municipal leadership and criminal justice as a sessional instructor at Dalhousie University, the University of Manitoba, and Camosun College.

I am passionate about helping not-for-profit and sport organizations thrive through strong governance, effective team building, and strategic planning. I believe that sustainable organizations are built on engaged people, clear direction, and a commitment to serving their communities.

If I am not at the lacrosse box, you will find me skiing in the winter and camping with my family throughout the summer.
